

Cosmetic product sorting device for conveyor

Usage A device to swing the conveyor to separate the products into two inspection machines.

Explanation Two devices are installed to improve the capacity of the inspection machine. Used in the loading section to distribute products by swinging the conveyor. Air cylinders had a bottleneck in that the impact at stopping was too great and the speed couldn't be raised above a certain level.